ORBIS nestable, durable tote has been the standard for the poultry, meat and seafood industries for many years.

From work-in-process handling of fresh poultry to chilling, quick freezing and distribution, ORBIS delivers reusable, packaging solutions. These durable containers provide a long service life for poultry, meat and seafood from the processing plant to distribution and retail display. Easily cleaned and sanitized, ORBIS containers are an economical improvement over single-use corrugated cartons and are ideal for moist environments. These plastic containers are fully recyclable at the end of their service life.
